DECLARATION OF DEAN ALDERUCCI

1. I, Dean Alderucci accessed the Radio Shack™ web site indicated by the following URL:
<http://www.radioshack.com/partners/verizon/verizonlanding.asp> on October 22, 2003. This is the same URL indicated on item u on form PTO-892 of the Office Action mailed April 22, 2003.
2. All of the below-described Web pages I printed out and attached hereto. They are consecutively numbered from 1 - 25, as seen in handwriting in the bottom right corner of each page.
3. Pages 1 - 4 represent the first Web page seen when accessing the above-described URL. Unlike the Radio Shack Web site document submitted by the Examiner, the first Web page includes no indication of different prices for the same phone.
4. I accessed a second web page by clicking on the "LG VX 6000 Digital Camera Phone" advertisement on the first Web page. Pages 5 - 7 represent the second Web page. Nowhere on this second page is there any way to purchase the phone, though one can purchase accessories such as a "Body Glove Phone Case". In fact, a price for the phone is not even given. The viewer is directed to "See Store for Price", indicating that one must purchase the phone through the store.
5. I accessed a third web page by clicking on the "Phones and Radio Communications" link on the first Web page, and then clicking on the ensuing link named "Cellular and PCS Phones by carrier". Pages 8 - 9 represent the third Web page.
6. I accessed fourth, fifth and sixth web pages by clicking on the "Altel, Cingular, US Cellular" link on the third Web page. Pages 10 - 11 represent the fourth Web page. Pages 12 - 13 represent the fifth Web page. Pages 14 - 15 represent the sixth Web page. All of the phones advertised on these pages include the notation to "See Store for Price".
7. I accessed seventh and eighth web pages by clicking on the "PCS Wireless from Sprint" link on the third Web page. Pages 16 - 17 represent the seventh Web page. Pages 18 - 19 represent the eighth Web page. All of the phones advertised on these pages include the notation to "See Store for Price".
8. I accessed ninth and tenth web pages by clicking on the "Verizon Wireless" link on the third Web page. Pages 20 - 21 represent the ninth Web page. Pages 22 - 23 represent the tenth Web page. All of the phones advertised on these pages include the notation to "See Store for Price".

9. I accessed an eleventh web pages by clicking on the "Samsung® SCH-A530" link on the ninth Web page. Pages 24 - 25 represent the eleventh Web page. Nowhere on this eleventh page is there any way to purchase the phone, though one can purchase accessories such as a "leather Case" and "JABRA® Ear Set". In fact, a price for the phone is not even given. The viewer is directed to "See Store for Price", indicating that one must purchase the phone through the store.

10. After searching for some time, I was not able to find any way to purchase a cellular telephone online from this Web site, much less a cellular telephone with a service plan. Each telephone had no accompanying "Add to Cart" button anywhere, nor any other means to purchase the telephone online.

11. However, I was able to add several other types of products to my cart, such as a "Leather Case for Samsung® SCH-a530" and a "Body Glove® Phone Case Swivel Clip". Each of these products which were not telephones had an accompanying "Add to Cart" button.

The image is a screenshot of the RadioShack website. At the top, there's a search bar with placeholder text 'Type keyword or product number' and a 'Search' button. To the right are links for 'Stereo Locator', 'Zip code', 'Go', and 'Advanced'. The main navigation menu includes 'Product Catalog', 'Monthly Flyer', 'What's New', 'What's On Sale', 'Coupons', 'Product Manuals', 'Commercial Customers', and 'Audio' (which is currently selected). Below the menu, there are category links: 'Batteries & Power', 'Computers & Networking', 'Digital Cameras & Imaging', 'Parts, Tools & Wire', 'Phones & Radio', 'Communications', 'School & Office', 'Security & Home Automation', 'Toys & Gaming', 'TV, Satellite & Video', and 'Unique Gadgets & Gifts'. A 'View by Category' link is also present. In the center, there's a large image of the LG VX6000 flip phone. To its left is a box for the 'NEW LG VX6000 for Verizon Wireless' with sections for 'See Store For Price', 'Catalog #', 'Model', and 'Where to Buy' (On-line, 1-800-THE-SHACK, In Stores). It also features a 'Zip code' input field and 'Yes'/'No' buttons. A 'Get a $50 Mail-in Rebate' link is located below this box. To the right of the phone image is a 'PRODUCT FEATURES' section with a list of 14 bullet points detailing the phone's capabilities. Further down the page are sections for 'Sign up and save.', 'Need Related Products?', and a 'Related Products' grid.
